TO DETRACTORS.

I never smile on whom I hate,
Nor censure without cause;
I court no one for being great,
Nor envy his applause.

I HATE that man of envious mind,
Whose soul no other joys can find,
But in the waste of some one's name,
Or in despoiling honest fame.
I HATE that man who, Judas like,
Can smile, and at the same time strike
His scorpion-sting, of envious hate,
Into the bosom of the great.
I HATE that sordid heart so base,
Who'll praise and flatter to your face,
But out of sight, will strive to set
You down in color black as jet.
Think wicked man, before you doom
My character to Envy's tomb,
That my fair name on earth's my all,
On this rock each must stand or fall.
And, think, you rob me not of health,
Of sordid gold, or paltry pelf,
But of a GEM more rich, more true,
Than all the mines of old Peru.
And, he who's tried in Scandal's court,
Is still of knaves and fools the sport,
If e'en by her most rigid laws,
The culprit's quitted with applause.

HORRID MURDER.

[The following account of the murder of Miss PATTAN, will doubtless be read with some interest. The particulars of this melancholy occurrence are given in a letter from a young gentleman in Georgia, where the circumstance took place, to his friend in Boston, dated Fayette, August 4, of which the following is a copy.]

DEAR SIR,

It unhappily falls to my lot to inform you of an event inconceivably tragic! a melancholy gloom pervades the whole of our little village! when you was with us the last winter, I think you must have become acquainted with the beautiful Miss Pattan, who has ever been justly esteemed the highest ornament of our Fair. She was the only daughter of Col. Pattan, a gentleman of the first respectability of this village. The particulars of the tragical event are as follows;

About two years since, the unfortunate lady became acquainted with a youth of respectable parentage; by the name of SPOONER, who at that time sustained an unblemished character. Young Spooner, who soon after his first introduction became constant in his visits, exhibited that partiality for Miss P. indicative of unfeigned affection, and which she apparently acknowledged with reciprocal ardor—Their parents too, at this period, so far from disapproving of the mutual attachment of the happy couple, seemed anxious for the arrival of the day when by their union in marriage, the two families would also become happily connected. But alas, how unstable are the things of this life! how prone are we to disappointment! adversity very unexpectedly marked one of this fond pair as her own!—Young Spooner, who until now had been esteemed as a young gentleman of unexceptionable character, suddenly became a votary to dissipation;—in vain were the attempts of a large circle of friends and acquaintance to effect a reformation He yet continued to visit the house of Colonel P. but it being now too apparent that the tippling and gambling house was his most favorite place of resort, the Col. conceived it an indispensable duty to deny him this privilege; his doors were closed against him, and all further communication between his daughter and the now dissipated Spooner strictly forbidden.

The unfortunate Maria, whose real attachment for young Spooner was too apparent to be doubted, with reluctance yielded to the indispensable commands of a tender parent—she could not in a moment cease to feel an affection for the youth with whom she spent so many happy hours! but to become now his wife, she was too sensible would not only be acting in opposition to the best advice of her friends, but would serve only to entail upon herself and family a complication of miseries.

The neglect with which young Spooner was now treated, not only by his fair friend and her connexions, but by those who were late his most intimate associates, had not its desired effect; apparently to drown sorrow, to barricade the mind against self-reproach on a retrospect of past events, ardent spirits were almost constantly resorted to; in short, the unhappy youth became now that despicable character which vile dissipation is capable of reducing us to: yet, in his most sober, as well as in his intoxicated hours, would he talk of his unabated love for the unfortunate Maria, and of the cruel treatment of her friends, who were compelling her to act an involuntary part towards him.

Although not privileged to visit, or exchange a syllable with Miss P. it was evident that the rash youth was of the foolish opinion that she would never consent to become the wife of any other person but himself: to her person he made public proclamation of his right, as he had not only gained her own assent to a union, but that of her nearest connexions.

In this state affairs remained, and without any prospect of a reformation in Spooner, until about four months since, when he gained information that his MARIA had received the addresses of a new admirer, to whom she had engaged herself in marriage, and that a consummation of the marriage nuptials were soon to take place.

The unfortunate Spooner from this moment became like one entirely lost to all shame, and bent on mischief of the most serious nature. The unfortunate Miss P. whom until now he had vainly flattered himself as unwilling to form a connexion with any other, received now a share of the opprobious epithets with which he reproached her friends. "Never (did he publicly swear) shall the ungrateful pre-engaged Maria, become the wife of any other person than myself, if life is spared to prevent it." Alas, although the vile oaths and imprecations of this rash young man were then regarded as only the fruit of intoxication, yet, sad to relate, he has since made them manifest by a deed of dreadful note.

Having by means unknown, a few days since obtained information that the marriage ceremony was the evening following to be performed between Miss P. and her new suiter (a young gentleman from Maryland); the vile murderer, it appears, began to devise a plan, and to furnish himself with such weapons as would enable him to effect his hellish design; secretly obtaining a brace of large horse pistols and a clasp knife, the former he charged with a ball and slug each; thus armed and instigated by the devil, he, on the evening of the 29th ult. repaired to the house of the unfortunate Maria, where, as appears by his own confession, after having skulked about the house for some time, seeking an opportunity to destroy the innocent and unsuspecting victim, and becoming still more exasperated at a view of her through the window, seated in a convivial mood beside her lover, his disposition would no longer permit him to postpone a deed, which the deceptive arts of hell (if I may use the expression) were prompting him to execute. On entering the piazza, with a cocked pistol in his hand, he tapped at the door, which unfortunately being opened by the ever-to-be-lamented Maria, she instantaneously received in her left side the contents of the fatal weapon, and fell lifeless upon the floor. The vile assassin being conscious of his guilt, and probably of the atonement which justice would demand for an act so barbarous, attempted to escape his just reward by plunging the knife into his own bosom; but, although he gave himself two severe wounds, I am informed by the surgeons who attended him, that they are not such as will prove mortal.

It is impossible, my dear sir, to describe the gloomy sensations which seem to pervade the minds of our inhabitants of every description, in consequence of this truly melancholy event; nor is it hardly possible to determine which of the wretched parents exhibit the greatest marks of insuperable grief—those of the poor unfortunate Maria or the wretched Spooner; they are each equally respectable, and as they have ever been upon terms of intimacy they now mingle with each other their tears of affliction. Those of the latter, I think, however, deserve the most commisseration; for while the parents of the justly lamented MARIA, have the soothing consolation to presume the undefiled spirit of their beloved child now numbered with the blessed, those of her execrable assassin have the heart-rending reflection that they have yet to witness the ignominious death of their son.

The mortal remains of poor MARIA were yesterday deposited with its native clay; but that vital spark which never dies, we trust has been ushered by sister spirits, through the etherial regions, into the blissful abodes of Paradise; there to exist with renovated vigor, where life is one continued scene of endless ecstacy in company with myriads of the heavenly choir.

ALEXANDRIA:
THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1817.

MR. SNOWDEN will oblige a friend to Christianity if he will give place to the following extract:

Extracts from the Speech of the Rev'd. Mr. Pettus, at the Anniversary of the New-York Sunday School Union Society.

The usual plans of education, sir, have been always placed upon high and elevated ground: so much so, that they could only be courted with expense—could only be approached with the constant sacrifice of labor and continual devotion In consequence of this, very large proportions of the more dependent classes of our citizens have been cut off and neglected; and for one of the most powerful of all reasons, because they have not possessed the means to make those privileges their own. To remedy this great evil, and a great evil, sir, it must be considered, free schools have been introduced with becoming zeal; and free schools have done much. The praises of those institutions cannot be too highly or extensively sounded. But even here, where the important article of expense was superseded by public bounty, the still more important article of time could not be obtained: time could not be brought to bear upon the question, from the pressing and imperious claims of daily labor, in the common efforts of family support. There was then yet wanting some plan to meet the exigency of the case; some plan that should embrace those short portions of leisure, that should stoop from the common ground, and pitch up those broken fragments of time, that might be devoted to this great object; and that plan, I am happy to say, is now completed and perfected in the practice of Sunday schools. They interfere with no claims of business—they stand in the way of no other duties whatever.

Besides, in a political point of view, the welfare of the state at large is deeply interested in this question It has been shrewdly observed by some of the most distinguished statesmen, that the cultivation and improvement of the more dependant classes of citizens, and the enjoyment of civil liberty, were commensurate blessings, and that as this liberty becomes abstracted from common use, this education assumes a corresponding character, and is either thrown in a corner, and altogether neglected, or insulated and circumscribed within such narrow limits, as nearly equal prohibition. But it is unnecessary to employ the great talents of profound statesmen upon a subject so perfectly familiar and plain at first sight. Our own ordinary acquaintance with historical facts, will furnish us with ample evidence—we are sufficiently informed, that those nations of the east, that have employed the pens of historians in their highest prosperity and glory, paid particular attention to this important subject; and it was only when they abandoned this cause of duty they were found to have abandoned themselves.

Men must know their privileges in order to appreciate their value, and they must be appreciated to guard their possession It is an interesting truth, that education forms that mighty instrument which calls forth and cultivates those talents and advantages which God and nature has given us; and it is equally plain to observation that where this lamp of instruction is neglected, those talents either lie dormant in the mind, or only show themselves by such offensive excrescence as is injurious to society.

We have reason to thank the good providence of God that our public history is not stained with uncommon turpitude. No: the faults and follies that exist among us, however deeply to be deplored, perhaps might bear a virtuous comparison with those that are found in other countries. But it must have been observed that, notwithstanding the praise worthy diligence of the civil magistrate, previous to the introduction of Sunday schools, the sanctity of the Sabbath was constantly violated by groups of ignorant uncultivated youth, engaged in idle and profane amusements. It was almost impracticable to apply a remedy to this. If they were routed in one direction, they quickly formed in another

But what no other discipline could reach—what no coercion could put down, the introduction of Sunday schools has silently and effectually removed; so that, in this respect, there is, comparatively, "no more complaining in our streets."

By supporting, then, the institution which has called us together, I have no hesitation to say we are supporting our own welfare, our own happiness, and our own character. We are raising up a standard against a flood of vice. We are guarding our prisons doors from being crowded with offenders, our streets from being polluted with additional crimes, our dearest interest from being invaded. But there is another and higher consideration to which I would more particularly call the attention. It is the cause of God & piety, which is deeply concerned in this question. I need not inform you that Sunday schools have already made great improvement in the morals of our city—Sunday schools have proved the happy instrument to bring vast numbers to the temples of religion. Your report mentions five thousand collected in one year—a number once fed by the friend of mankind, and now again fed with intellectual food by his disciples! Among these, strange as it may appear in a city like this, and in a day of light like the present, some have been found such perfect strangers to their duty and their God, that it is probable their knees were never before bowed to the Heavens;—their hands probably never before raised to the Throne of Mercy; their voices probably never before employed in chaunting the praises of their exalted Redeemer.

The benefits of Sunday schools must not be confined simply to the Sabbath day—they are of a diffusive nature. The instructions that are there received are repeated with interest at home. In this respect that which is uppermost in the mind, like holy oil floating on the surface, will even be foremost in the lips; like the box of precious ointment once employed by the penitent woman, the fragrance of which filled the whole house, the instructions of Sunday schools are diffused through every part of the family. The little stories of piety are repeated with affection from their school books; the other children are excited with attention; the parents are roused from their unfeeling indifference, their insensible composure, and find a greater delight—affection and concern for the welfare of their offsprings.

The holy scriptures, which before were only known in name, but now, through the zeal of Bible societies, (God bless them) are found in every chamber and in every house: the holy scriptures are read—the sacred precepts become familiar. The aged parents bow their ears to listen, and incline their hoary heads to the blest example of the Redeemer.—The book of God sheds a flood of light where darkness and ignorance before had permanent habitation, and sometimes the reformation of whole families has been the happy fruits of Sunday school instruction.

To enumerate the benefits growing out of this most benevolent design, would indeed embrace an extensive latitude.—But I have already trespassed too far on your time; my feelings and views of the subject, however, would not permit me to say less.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

☞ QUÆRO will appear on Monday next. In the mean time, no communication on the Catholic Question can be inserted. We think proper to add, that the columns of the Gazette will remain open two days in each week for the discussion of the question; and that one essay from each of the controvertists, agreeably to this arrangement, will be inserted with pleasure.

It was stated a few days ago on the authority of some other paper, that the Hon. Mr. DANA, of Connecticut, had resigned his seat in the Senate of the U. States. We however understand from a neighbor and intimate acquaintance of that gentleman, that the statement was not correct, and that Mr. DANA has never signified an intention of resigning.

Singular acquittal.—Briggs Belknap, the person charged with having stolen a large sum of money from on board the Newburg sloop, was tried last week in Orange county. The theft was committed four or five years ago, but it was not ascertained that he was the thief till a short time since. Although most satisfactory proof of his guilt was exhibited, the jury acquitted him on the ground that the statute limits the commencement of a prosecution to three years and a day.

"Facility of connecting the North and South Seas by a Canal."—Under this head, the Connecticut Courant has given the following curious and interesting extract from the Edinburgh Review on Molina's account of Chili:—

"In the year 1805, a spherical chart of the sea of the Antilles, and of the coast of Terra Firma, from the island of Trinidad to the Gulf of Honduras, was constructed in the hydrographical department, by order of the Spanish government, from scientific surveys. By this chart an important discovery was made. The bay of Mandinga, an immense inlet of the sea, commencing about 10 leagues to the eastward of Porto Bello, penetrates into the isthmus to within 5 leagues of the Pacific Ocean.—This prodigious bason, which is almost closed by a chain of islands, running close to one another at the mouth, has never been navigated by any European except Spaniards; and was never supposed to run back, to any considerable extent, into the country, as all the old charts in which it is marked abundantly testify. A river, from the name of which the Bay is denominated, falls into the bottom of the Gulf. This river is navigable, and, we know, comes very near a branch of the Chepo, a large river which falls into the Gulf of Panama.—We are not yet furnished with any satisfactory details on the navigable state of these rivers; but from what Alcedo tells us—from the circumstance of their navigation being prohibited by the Spanish government under pain of death, on the express ground, that it might discover the facility of the passage to the South Sea—and from the fact of the buccaneers having actually penetrated from sea to sea in this direction, we are entitled to conclude, that extraordinary facilities for the great enterprize are here presented. The Bay has ten fathoms of water at the entrance, which encreases to eleven in the middle, and it has six fathoms to the very bottom."—The reviewers, after proceeding to adduce some statements of Herara, the famous historian of South-America, draw the following conclusion: By this indubitable authority, then, it appears, that a canal of nine leagues, through a country mostly flat, is all that is wanting to complete the navigation across the isthmus of Panama.

To this extract, the Courier adds the following remark—"In the event of a complete and permanent independence of South-America—an event highly probable—it is not unreasonable to expect, that within fifty years the North & South Seas will be connected. And what a stupendous revolution it would produce in navigation and comerce! The distances to India and China would be shortened more than ten thousand miles."

New Orleans, Aug. 30.

INSOLENCE.

Yesterday a writ of Habeas Corpus was issued by the Hon. Judge LEWIS, to bring before him a man named Thomas Lamb, detained on board the British government brig Beaver, then lying in this harbor. The captain refused obedience to the writ, and in half an hour after it was served, got under weigh and proceeded down the river. An order in the mean time was issued by the Judge, to attach the captain, with which the deputy sheriff went along side in a boat, but being threatened to be fired upon, retired. Time will not permit us to make any comment on this outrageous insolence—it might have been expected, that the sight of Jackson's lines would have recalled the idea that our laws and rights are not to be infringed with impunity. Measures, we understand, have been adopted to prevent the passage of the brig out of the river, and no doubt can be entertained that the captain will be punished as he deserves.

To the Editor of the Utica Patriot.

Permit me, through your most useful paper, to offer to the public a few observations on the KROOT, or SPURRED RYE. It is occasioned by a small black fly, of a shining hue, and large wings in proportion to the size of its body. It deposits its eggs in the grain; about the time it begins to harden, it perforates a hole through the glume or outer covering of the grain. The part is immediately changed to a dingy black, a very forbidding color. The intention of nature being thus frustrated on account of the deadly poison deposited in the grain, a chymical decomposition takes place: the grain tastes sweet, as in the proper process of germination it has a very disagreeable smell, the germ begins to expand: instead of producing a plant it produces a capsule about one inch in length and three times as thick as grain; in some instances the three stamens and villose stigma may be seen on the point of the capsule. Here honest nature's efforts stop, leaving the insect to feed on the inside of the production. It first has the appearance of a small worm, which changes into a regular form like the bug that feeds on the potatoe leaves and blossoms. The properties of Ergot are of a very deleterious nature. The rye that is infected ought not to be used as food, as every part of the seed is diseased. Seed supposed to be infected ought to be soaked in brine strong enough to bear an egg for 24 hours, then mixed with new slacked lime for six hours before sowing. Every prudent farmer will sow sound uninfected seed.

I have written this in haste to be in time for the press but shall give a more full account in your next. Although spring

LATEST FROM LIVERPOOL.

By the arrival, at 2 o'clock, of the ship Hibernia, capt. Graham in 43 days from Liverpool, we have received papers to the 16th. and a price current of the 19th. of August. We have only time to give the shipping intelligence and the state of the Markets.

The appearance of crops in England continued favorable, and at the southward the harvest had generally commenced. The weather, during the week previous to the sailing of the Hibernia, was, however, very wet and unfavorable for the harvest

The shipments of grain from the Baltic and the White Sea were very large; but in consequence of continued head winds, only a small part had arrived on the 20th. of August.

It was generally understood in England, that the Parliament would not be dissolved during the present year.

Mr. Incledon, the celebrated London singer, embarked at Liverpool on the 20th of August, for this city. He comes out in the ship John & Edward capt. Webb.

The Liverpool Mercury of Aug. 15, states, that since the ports opened for grain in November last, there had arrived in that place 83,300 quarters of foreign wheat, not Irish, and 423,400 barrels of flour.

Passengers in the Hibernia—Mr. F. B. Ogden, of New York; Mr. H. Eubank, of London; Mr. Charles Garnard, of Liverpool; and eleven in the steerage.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 19, 1817.

The unsettled state of the weather, has caused a further advance in flour. At this day's market, much business was done, at 52 for sweet and 41 for sour. Wheat, 13s 6d per 70 lbs.—Our crops at present have received no injury from the continued late rains, but we now want warm, dry weather, in which case, our harvest will be abundant. In other produce, no alterations since yesterday, the prices of which you have annexed

LATEST.

The Greenock Chronicle of the 22d of Aug. for which the editors of the Gazette are indebted to capt. Thomas, contains London dates to the 19th.

Parliament had been further prorogued till Monday the 3d of November.

The port of Bristol is added to the ports for the deposit of goods from the East Indies.

The papers from Manchester, Leeds and Norfolk, England, and other places, boast of the revival of business in the manufacturing establishments.

The harvest had commenced in Scotland, where the crops in general looked beautiful, and promised more than an average, should the weather prove favorable. The late heavy rains had not been attended with any calamitous consequences.

This tract binds upon the river, and contains by patent one thousand and fifty acres, a large proportion of which is rich bottom. The title is old, and indisputable, having been located and surveyed by Gen. Washington before the Revolution. What may be considered as adding much to its value is the passage of the western road thro' it. By a reference to Mr. Madison's map of Virginia, the situation of the land may be designated. Apply to Colonel Francis Peyton, or LEFT my employ on Thursday, the 11th instant a servant boy, named SPENCER; he is about 15 or 16 years old, tolerably well grown, is bow legged, of light yellow complexion, stammers when spoken to. He is probably lurking about town, and will no doubt try to pass for a free boy. I will give the above reward if taken more than ten miles from town, ten dollars if taken out of the district, and five if taken within the district. I forewarn all persons from harboring or carrying off said boy, as I am determined to have such offenders punished to the extent of the law. T. MOUNT.

Land for Sale.

IF early application is made, I will dispose of 400 acres of the CEDAR GROVE tract of land. There is surplus timber and fire wood enough on the part I purpose selling to pay, with judicious management, more than half the purchase money, at the price I ask. The situation is healthy, and the land fertile. Contiguity to market is also among its advantages; it being within less than a mile of Mr. Jonathan Janney's mill, where the Alexandria price may be had for grain. Persons wishing to purchase will apply to the subscriber, residing at Cedar Grove, ten miles below Alexandria, and one below Janney's mill.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE subscriber intending shortly to remove to the southward, offers for sale to the highest bidder, on Monday the 13th day of October next, if fair, if not, the next fair day, 1 tract of LAND, containing 77½ acres, it being a part of an undivided tract of land called Buckley's Tract. There is on this tract a dwelling house, with several rooms, fine springs and rivulets of excellent water, an excellent apple orchard of early and late fruit, also a peach orchard, and about 25 acres of wood land annexed. This farm produces exceedingly well, and is divided into two fields.

Also, one other tract of LAND, containing 56 acres, called Pritchart's Tract. About one half of this tract is in fine thriving timber and wood land, with a proportion of good low ground suitable for meadow.

Also, I will lease for two lives, (ages 23 and 34 years) or for a term of years, one other tract of LAND, on which I reside, containing, by actual survey, 332½ acres. The improvements are a small dwelling house, granary and corn house meat house, large stable not yet covered, cabins for Negroes, &c. This tract abounds with many pure and delightful SPRINGS and branches of water, which never fail, with about 50 acres of thriving timber and wood land; also, an apple orchard, with a number of bearing peach trees of the most delicious kind. About 400 grafted apple trees in nursery of the choicest selected latter fruit. This farm is under a tolerable good fence, and divided into two fields. These three tracts lie adjoining, and will be sold separate to suit purchasers, and it can be proved these tracts were originally of the first quality high lands, with white flint and grey stone (mostly piled) soil of a chocolate color, and produces good crops of corn, wheat, rye, oats, tobacco, potatoes and vegetables, &c. &c. abounding in grass, which affords a fine natural pasture for stock of every kind. A small lot of this land was sown in clover, which produced a fine crop without the aid of manure or plaster. There is about 20 acres of high and low grounds, well taken in Timothy, and at least 40 more of low grounds, which might easily be converted into meadow with but little expense.—About 20 acres of fallow will be sown in rye, and any person who may purchase shall have liberty to seed about 70 acres of corn land immediately, or fallow and seed any quantity they please. On the east and west side of these lands there is a very extensive range for stock. On this tract there is an excellect seat for MILLS or other MACHINERY on a never failing stream—the fall so great having been levelled, the water may be worked over twice A part of the materials for building a mill has already been procured. This year plaster has been tried for the first time on this land upon corn with admirable effect. One of my neighbors plastered a clover lot adjoining this land last spring, which produced a very abundant and excellent crop. It is now the opinion of those who have tried the plaster on lands in this settlement, that it acts as powerfully here as on the Loudoun lands. Those who may disbelieve it I invite to come and see for themselves. These lands lie about 2 1-2 miles south east of Centreville, 2 miles only from the turnpike road—20 miles from Alexandria, George own and the city of Washington, and is so extremely healthy, having no marshy lands near it—the situation high and agreeably diversified—the air so pure and salubrious, that during the five years past, the time I have had this farm in possession not one death by sickness has occurred in my family of more than thirty persons, of white and black. Nothing but the want of funds to improve these lands possessing so many natural advantages, induces me to dispose of them. Possession of the two last described tracts will be given the purchaser on or before the first day of November next; a good and indisputable title will be made to the purchaser, and the lands shewn to any person who may wish to view them before the sale.

TERMS of sale for the lands, one half cash in hand, the other half in 12 months, the purchaser giving bond with two approved securities.

Will be sold at the same time and place for CASH in hand, upwards of 100 barrels of good corn standing in the field—likewise the fodder—also, several valuable NEGROES, HORSES and gig, MULES, CATTLE, among which, are some good milch cows and one yoke of oxen, SHEEP, HOGS, FARMING UTENSILS of various descriptions. HOUSEHOLD and KITCHEN furniture. Sale to commence at 12 o'clock—For further particulars apply to the subscriber living on the premises. All persons to whom I am indebted will please present their claims, on, or soon after the day of sale, if convenient, otherwise I shall call on them and adjust all outstanding claims.

James Kennedy & Son,

BOOKSELLERS,

KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from

Lee's Medicine Store,

No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions	Indigestion
Lowness of spirits	Melancholy
Loss of appetite	Gout in the stomach

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, specially removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Toothe Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

☞ At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines: the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.
